(Special By Scripps-Mellae.) No reply has as yet been made to the request.

The confirmation of the above report has been sent back again from Washington where it is understood that Lelshman informed the state department that four other ambassadors had joined him in his demand for the removal of the governor of Beirut.

WINS LONG FIGHT FOR RICH MINERAL LANDS

Milwaukee Man Secures Control of Claim After Twenty Years' Litigation and $1,000,000 Expenditure.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—George Lonsdorf of this city has secured control of the famous "Section 30" mining claim in St. Louis county, Minnesota, after twenty years of litigation and the expenditure of $1,000,000 in fighting for the claim through all the courts in the land.

Last year the Supreme court decided the contest in favor of Mr. Lonsdorf and his mother and the three other claimants, Frank W. Eaton of St. Paul and Leonidas Merritt and Richard Fagan of Duluth.

Opposed to Lonsdorf through all the fight has been the Minnesota Iron company and its successor, the United States Steel corporation. Mr. Lonsdorf has just bought out the interest of the three others. The property consists of 320 acres of the richest iron ore in the district and it has never been mined. The courts are expected soon to vest the title to the remaining forty acres in Lonsdorf, as it rests on the same claim as the balance. Mining men estimate the district to be worth $10,000,000.

WEALTHY LUMBERMAN REGAINS HIS LIBERTY

Judge Belden Releases Charles Shevlin of Minneapolis From Custody on Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 10.—In the circuit court Judge Belden ordered that Edwin Charles Shevlin, a Minneapolis lumberman, be discharged from custody. He held that Judge Lyon of the Walworth county court did not have jurisdiction over Shevlin to have him brought before the court to be examined as to his mental condition. He also said proper notice had not been given of such examination and that Shevlin was not a resident of Wisconsin.

The attorneys for William Elston, the deputy sheriff who made answer in the habeas corpus proceedings, asked for a stay of proceedings until a writ of error could be secured from the supreme court. This was denied. Immediately upon his release Shevlin went to the office of Kearney & Thompson, his attorneys, and received $50,000 in securities, which he had given them for safe keeping during the time he remained in custody. He left Racine for Chicago with Attorney Thomas N. Kearney and refused to make any statements.

Judge Belden, in his decision and the order for discharge, said that, the return to the writ of habeas corpus failed to state any legal cause for the detention of the petitioner.

STATE FAIR TRACK WAS A VAST SEA OF MUD YESTERDAY

Old Time Horse Man Tells of Wednesday at the Milwaukee Track.

"I have been following fairs and horse races for forty years, and I never have seen a day in that time that was as miserable for everybody concerned as was yesterday at the state fair grounds in Milwaukee," said M. D. Owen, the well known Footville man who was a visitor in Janesville this morning. "Long before it was time for the races the clay track was one large pool of water. Even with the sun it cannot be gotten in shape this week. Many of the sheep and cattle had already been judged in the morning, so they will have to pay the premiums whether there are any gate receipts or not. I am afraid they will have a big deficit."

Very few people from Janesville attended the opening yesterday, according to Mr. Owen. The latter has disposed of all of his racing stock with the exception of one horse; but still is as enthusiastic as ever over racing and good horse-flesh.

Justice Reeder left this morning for Milwaukee, expecting to return Friday noon.

COTTON MAY LAND MARINES

Foreign Consult at Beirut Have Petitioned Him To Do So at Once.

VESSELS READY

War Ships Are Being Prepared, and Will Act, If It Is Deemed Necessary.

London, Sept. 10.—The foreign consults at Beirut have united in requesting the American warships to land marines for the protection of the foreign consulates.

Rear Admiral Cotton, commander of the American squadron, has promised to land the marines the instant conditions one shore make such a step absolutely necessary.

In the meantime the decks of the American cruisers have been cleared for action and are ready to land 500 men at a moment's notice.

It is stated on good authority that the powers are in full accord in approving the presence of the American squadron at Beirut.

The situation at Beirut is regarded as one of extreme danger. Dispatches received from that city via Port Said give an alarming view of conditions there. They are as follows:

Men Are Under Arms.
"The arrival of the American cruisers, Brooklyn and San Francisco, was most opportune. Admiral Cotton is on the alert, and signalmen and a guard slept at the United States consulate. The men on board the warships are under arms, ready to disembark on a signal from the consulate."

"The boats of the Brooklyn and San Francisco have reconnoitered the coast below the property of the American mission in order to select landing places in case of need."

"The American mission authorities have demanded guards from the governor for the protection of the mission printing office and the mission property. An attempt to enter an American residence was frustrated."

Want Autonomous Government.

"The Americans here think the United States government should insist on the dismissal of the viceroy of Beirut, a notorious bribe taker, and to whom all the disorders are attributed. The opinion here is that the powers should take action with a view to bringing Beirut under the jurisdiction of an autonomous Christian government for the Lebanon district."

"The Moslem section of the city has been in a state of anarchy and thirty persons were killed, among whom, however, were no foreigners. The shops are closed, the streets deserted, and the government is seemingly unable or unwilling to assure the safety of the residents."

"Vice Consul Magelssen, when he was fired at recently, was near a police booth. His assailant is not yet known. The authorities are indifferent, and thus far have given no satisfaction."

CHURCH FIRST; UNIONS SECOND

FATHER WARD, OF BELOIT, MAKES SENSATIONAL STATEMENT.

ARE GIVEN AN ULTIMATUM

Priest Will Refuse Absolution to Takers of the Printers' Oath.

What promises to be a most serious conflict between church and unionism has begun in Beloit and promises to spread until Roman Catholics who are members of labor organizations will be given the choice of membership in only one. Of late several Roman Catholic priests in this section have taken occasion to criticize the oath taken by members of the printers' union, but the most radical step yet has been taken by Father M. J. Ward, pastor of St. Thomas church, Beloit, who has announced he will refuse absolution to those who have taken the printers' oath.

The refusal of absolution means expulsion from the church and the denial of Christian burial after death. To the good churchman it is certain damnation to die outside the church, so the choice now put before him is a most serious problem.

Portion of Oath Opposed
This is the part of the oath to which Father Ward objects:

"My fidelity to the union and my duty to the members thereof shall in no sense be interfered with by any allegiance that I may now or hereafter owe to any other organization, social, political, or religious, secret or otherwise."

"No Catholic taking such an oath can secure absolution from me or any other priest," declared Father Ward. "I am told that members of all unions are required to take a similar oath. I wish to warn my hearers that no man or woman can take such an obligation without conflicting with their duty as Catholics and as good citizens. It is against the laws of the church and the laws of the land. I have no word to say, however, against unions based on right principles."

Sees Conflict in Obligations
"If the members of my church who belong to the Typographical union can modify their oath so as not to conflict with the religious obligations, well and good. Otherwise they must get out of the union or out of my church. This is practically the same stand taken by President Roosevelt in making members of the union take the oath of allegiance to the United States government."

William Garrigan, secretary of the Beloit typographical union, said tonight that he thought the reference to political organizations meant societies connected with the church, but not the church itself. "But I cannot say," said he, "what we will do until we hear from President Lynch of the International union."

Milwaukee Idea
Father A. F. Schinner, administrator of the archdiocese of Milwaukee, says on the subject, that Father Ward was justified in making his statement regarding the printers' union oath, and that he himself would say the same thing. "Such an oath," said Father Schinner, "is distinctly aimed at religion. I do not know that refusal to give absolution to such union men is enforced, but I think it should be."

"It has been told me by a member of the union that nothing antagonistic to religion is intended, but there is a possibility of reading it that way, and I think that the oath should be so clear there can be no misunderstanding with it."

"But if the printers' oath does not mean as it reads, I think permission should be given to have it changed, no good Catholic could stay in the union."

Agent Dewey.
Special Agent of the United States Adelbert M. Dewey, who was president of the Typographical union from 1885 to 1887, says of the form the oath of allegiance to the union would not be changed. In explanation he said: "The Typographical union discovered that offices of nearly all subordinate unions and the foremanship of the largest offices seem to be held by a clique within the organization. For some years all attempts to remedy the evil met with failure in the I. T. U. conventions, and it was plain that most of the delegates belonged to this secret brotherhood. But there came a time at one of the international conventions that the number of delegates opposed to this clique were in the majority and they took advantage of their opportunity to deal the brotherhood a deathblow by not only denouncing the secret organization as inimical to the best interests of all union printers, but they also amended the obligation to guard against similar trouble in the future."

Straining at a Gnat

"I am sure that there was no intention then, nor has there ever been any attempt, to place any member's loyalty to the union above his obligation to society or his country. Surely no right thinking person can construe that section as interfering in any way with the religious liberty of the members who take it."

"I believe the reverend gentleman who has taken exception to the oath and who threatened union printers with excommunication from church privileges are 'straining at a gnat.' I have no fear as far as Roman Catholic printers are concerned, and do not expect that the Rev. Father Schinner, or any other minister or the archdiocese of Milwaukee or any other district will influence the printers to change their oath."

GROCERY WAGON OPENED BY THIEVES

Gso. F. Carle Finds Two Men After His Goods—Both Got Away.

George F. Carle, 58 Caroline street, discovered two men trying to break into his covered wagon that was standing in his shed last night, and succeeded in capturing one of them, who, however, later escaped. Carle has a closed wagon which is used for country work, standing in the barn at the rear of his store. The doors to the rig were closed with a padlock. The wagon was loaded with groceries ready for the next day's trip and it was the lock on the rig that the thieves were trying to remove when they were surprised by Carle who heard a noise near the house.

Securing his revolver he approached the men and covered both with the weapon. One dodged under the wagon and escaped, but Mr. Carle caught the other who was discovered to be "Tinker Smith," a local celebrity. He held Smith by his coat-tails and called to his wife to "phone for the police. This was done, but while waiting for the officers, Smith became talkative and so interested Mr. Carle that the latter let go his hold on the man's coat. In a jiffy Smith was taking "French leave" and continued to run until out of sight, in spite of the bullets that followed him. The men had only taken a few articles from the wagon and they left behind the ax with which they broke the lock, and an umbrella that Smith's partner dropped in his flight.

Smith had been absent from town for some time but was seen yesterday. He has been at Stoughton and the police believe he will be picked up in the vicinity soon. Officers Fanning, Bencke, and Brown were on the scene of the attempted robbery soon after Smith got away, and although a careful search was made in the neighborhood no trace of the crooks could be found.

POT HUNTERS ARE EVADING WARDENS

They Use Illicit Boat Line To Carry Deer from Wisconsin to Chicago.

An illicit boat line, running from Ford river, Mich., to Chicago, is the scheme which pot hunters have devised to defeat the Wisconsin game laws. The Wisconsin game wardens are much exercised by the failure of the Michigan game wardens to stop the traffic in deer and other game, but are hopeful of soon devising a plan by which the pot hunters may be brought to justice.

It is well known that venison and game birds can be found on hills of fare in the Windy City, but to discover how the Chicago hotel or restaurant men secured their game from Wisconsin was a puzzle which has long been beyond the power of the Wisconsin game warden to solve. Now, however, it is believed by the state authorities that the secret has been learned.

During the past two weeks it was discovered by Special Deputy Warden Robert Hitchon of this county, assisted by several of the deputies who are stationed in the county, that a party of about ten pot hunters have been busy along the northern state line of Wisconsin, killing deer by the scores it is said. The wardens have learned that the hunters, killing their game in Wisconsin, ship the carcasses across the Menominee river into Michigan, before they can be apprehended by the Wisconsin authorities. The Michigan authorities have not been working in harmony with the Wisconsin wardens, and the hunters have been successful in getting away with their deer when once across the state line.

After reaching Michigan the "pot-hunters" have sent their game to a secured spot on the Ford river, where it is put on a small sailing or steam craft, and shipped to Chicago, by out passing through Wisconsin. It is this Wisconsin wardens are unable to find the game in transit, and the failure of the Michigan authorities to locate the shipping point has prevented the arrest of any of the hunters, all of whom are well known to the Wisconsin wardens.

The extent of the work of the pot hunters can be understood when it is stated that they have "worked" a stretch of 200 miles of river, and back from the Menominee twenty to thirty miles into Wisconsin, practically stripping that territory of its deer. The trip from Ford river to Chicago by water is only about thirty-six hours.

NEEDY ARE FEW DURING SUMMER

Poor Commissioner Kenyon Says His Expenses Are Very Small at Present.

The number of the county's poor requiring help is very small just at present. Superintendent of Poor S. B. Kenyon who has recently returned from a trip to Grand Rapids, Mich., says that the total expense of his department during the month past has not exceeded ten dollars. His principal occupation nowadays is looking up the cases where the sick and dependent in cities outside the county claim a residence here. It requires twelve months to acquire a "pauper's residence," as it is called, and poor officials in all parts of the state are naturally on the alert to prevent outsiders from becoming permanent charges.

Marquette Eagle Star: If the Martains will just be patient Professor Langley will presently go right up to their signals and ask what they mean.

READY TO OPEN FOOTBALL SEASON

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN HAS GOOD PROSPECTS NOW.

ACTIVE TRAINING HAS BEGUN

Coaches Believe Their Material Will Develop Into a Winning Team.

The football practice season has opened in earnest at the university campus. For several days past candidates residing in Madison have been kicking the pixskin around, getting into shape for the more strenuous work of the coming weeks. It is expected by Coach Curtis that some ten candidates will report for work tomorrow afternoon and the work of that day will be light, consisting merely of kicking the football and perhaps a short run. Before the end of the week the squad is expected to increase to 20 or 30 and its maximum will not be reached until the second week of the fall term of the university early in October. The first game will be played the last Saturday of the present month but it will be merely a practice contest. The first championship game of the season is with Chicago on October 3.

Coaches Confident.
Coach Curtis says that the prospects for a winning team are excellent. Assistant Coach McCarthy believes that Wisconsin will beat the west this fall. Graduate Manager Kilpatrick, who has done much preliminary work drumming up football players during the past year, states that football material was never better.

There are two fields laid out at Camp Randall. The old one will be spared as much as possible and play restricted to a new one, running north and south, on the west end of the grounds. The lower campus, which is exceedingly convenient to the gymnasium will be used during the first few days and again toward the close of September when the students come flocking back to their labors.

New Man Arrives.
J. C. Jones, of Cedar Falls, enjoys the distinction of being the first new football candidate to arrive. He is a strong young man who promises well. Roy Chamberlain, who played guard on the varsity in 1899, will be on hand tomorrow to continue his football career. He has been teaching in Marinette. He returns to the university to take work in the law school.

Fladlay, Bain, Schreiber, Bartlett and Wabets—all last year's players—have been in Madison during the past two weeks. They have been actively "working out" during the last ten days and are now in good physical form. Captain Abbott and Bush, both regular varsity ends last year, are expected to join the training squad tomorrow. Bartlett, Fogg, Kemp and Marsh will begin practice before the end of the week. Bradbury Robinson, Jr., of Baraboo, a determined young man who has won some fame as an athlete in his home town, is one of the latest acquisitions to the list of candidates. He has distinguished himself as a halfback and as a runner of the half mile race.

VENETIAN CANAL AT EXPOSITION

Be utiful Sights for the Lagoon at the Louisiana Purchase Fair.

Electric launches large electric barges, Venetian gondolas and a large number of other small crafts will ply the mile of water ways at the World's Fair next year. The large boats will run over regular courses carrying passengers between landings which will be supplied in various parts of the grounds. The lagoons reach every section of the main picture of the Exposition, passing by the facades of many of the big exhibits palaces and offering an unexampled view of the cascades and fountains. The intramural railroad and the miniature railway do not reach this district so that the water transportation will be an attractive means of travel in the "main picture."

The electric launches will carry about 22 persons each; the barges, 70 persons each; and the picturesque gondolas, with sinking gondoliers, will carry from 8 to 20 persons each. The latter will be rented by the hour. All boats will be equipped with awnings. Besides these boats there will be operated a fleet of water craft of all nations including the houseboat of China, the Balso of India, the outrigger of the South Sea Islands, the surf boats of Hawaii, the canoes and dugouts of the American Indian and the Catamaran of Australia. Gossip of Interest For Railroad
Men

North-Western Road
The big (steep-foot) stringers and other timbers taken from the railroad bridge near the Robinson brewery will be utilized for flooring in the roundhouses of Janesville and neighboring cities. Each one of these timbers will cut into 36 paving blocks and the work of sawing them will take three men in the carpenter shops nearly a month.

I. T. Matthews, clerk at the roundhouse office, has gone to Milwaukee where he will spend a few days at the state fair.

C. G. Sullivan, storekeeper at the roundhouse, is spending a few days at the state fair at Milwaukee.

Ergyner Charles Sedmore has returned to his work on the northern division.

An excursion train from Chicago to Devil's Lake passed through Janesville over the North-Western this morning.

J. W. Clark, engineer on the northern Wisconsin division, has reported for work after enjoying a short vacation.

Engineer Grant Smith has returned to his work on the northern division.

St. Paul Road
J. L. Harper, transfer man at the St. Paul depot, returned from a vacation trip in the east. He visited Niagara Falls, the Indian reservation in New York, Cleveland, Ohio, Chicago and other places of interest.

President A. J. Earling's private car "Wisconsin" came in last evening. General Counsel George R. Peck was on board. He came here to attend the funeral of the late Roland S. Burdick.

Conductors and engineers have been notified to reduce the speed of trains to fifteen miles an hour on the railway crossing at Roundout, until further notice.

General Foreman Fox has a number of fine specimens of quartz and ore, and other mineral curiosities in his office near the St. Paul roundhouse. Many of these were brought from the neighborhood of Shullsburg and Platteville by the conductors and engineers. His collection has grown so large that it has been necessary to utilize some of the specimens for decorative borders to his flower beds at home.

GENERAL RAILROAD NEWS

The Wabash and the Alton have started a circular campaign against employees who drink liquor.

July earnings of sixty roads as scheduled at $77,204,162, an increase of $42,072,086.

C. M. Snyder, for many years division freight agent of the Baltimore Road at Galesburg, died yesterday.

General passenger agents of lines with terminals in St. Louis will meet Sept. 15, at St. Louis to pass upon a variety of matters relating to the exposition.

In the annual report of the Wabash road it will be shown that the earnings for twelve months will show a decrease in net of $1,312,530.

The Southern Pacific has given orders to move all empty freight cars to Louisville to relieve the car congestion.

The Santa Fe Railroad company announced yesterday a wage increase of 2 cents per hour for boiler-makers, machinists and blacksmiths at all the shops at the system proper between Chicago and Albuquerque.

The Grand Trunk and Clover Leaf railroads yesterday opened for traffic the Detroit and Toledo shore Line Railroad, which they jointly control. For the present only freight will be handled over this line.

The two new Kansas City cut-offs of the Milwaukee road, one from Ashdale to Thompson, a distance of 14 miles, and the other from Muscatine to Rutledge, Iowa, a distance of 25 miles were opened for business yesterday. Both cut-offs run through exceedingly rich territory. The line is shortened 50 miles and as a result the road will not have to ask odds from any competing road.

In spite of denials by officials of the Milwaukee road regarding the rumor that J. H. Hildan, third vice president, was shortly to go with an eastern road, it was said yesterday that Mr. Hildan was seriously considering a flattering proposition from the Vanderbilt interests to become traffic manager of that system.

Rumors that the late rise in Santa Fe stock is due to buying by the Rock Island interests are doubted by officials of both the Santa Fe and Rock Island. No denial, however, is made of the fact that negotiations are in progress to bring about a traffic alliance between the two roads, whereby the Rock Island is to use the Santa Fe Pacific from Albuquerque west as its outlet to California instead of the Southern Pacific from El Paso west.

There was also a report current that the Rockfellers are buying Santa Fe stock with a view of obtaining control of the road.

The committee of western roads in favor of changing the form of interchangeable mileage tickets, so that they can be honored by conductors on trains is at work again drafting rules for the government of the proposed new mileage bureau.

Slow progress is being made and new obstacles are continually encountered that make it exceedingly problematical whether the new ticket can be put into effect by November 1st.

The Grand Trunk's Detroit and Milwaukee line expects to be able to take freight and passengers to and from Milwaukee in an interchange of traffic arrangement with the Chicago and North Western and Milwaukee and St. Paul roads about the middle of this month. This will be accomplished by means of a car ferry from Grand Haven to Milwaukee, established at the cost of $300,000, and the line seemingly is designed to be a competitor of the Wabash, which has also obtained terminal arrangements at Milwaukee.

DR. SENN TAKES OUT A LICENSE

The Noted Chicago Surgeon Will Hunt in Wisconsin This Fall.

Dr. E. J. Senn, the famous Chicago surgeon, was Tuesday granted a non-resident small game license to hunt in Wisconsin by the secretary of state. His description stubs reads: "Age 33, height 5 feet, 6 inches, weight 220 pounds; brown eyes, black hair."

Up to Sept. 1, 15,000 resident hunting licenses had been granted. The state has taken its fees to date from non-resident small game licenses the sum of $1,390.

Forty-six settlers' licenses have been taken out. This is a new provision of the law which permits actual settlers who have not been in the state one year to take out resident licenses.

One arrest has been made for shooting quail out of season. There are few violations says Deputy Warden Nelson.

End of Baseball Is Near

Major Leagues Finish the Season Two Days Apart: Pittsburghs May Go to Australia: Current Talk of the Game.

The baseball season is now drawing to a close. The official schedule of the Nationals ends Sept. 27 and the Americans play their last regular game two days later. Pittsburgh seems to have the National pennant secure for the third consecutive time, and in Dan Johnson's organization the Bostonians, under Jimmy Collins, are possessors of a commanding lead that probably will not be taken away.

After the schedules close, both leagues will be engaged in playing off postponed games for a short period, and then, too, a few series of interclub contests will be held in cities supporting two major league teams.

During the winter the champion Pittsburghs will in all likelihood be taking to Australia by President Dreyfus. He has had this bee buzzing in his bonnet for several months, and he figures that Fred Clarke and his husky crew of Pirates will be a first class drawing card in exhibition games in the big British possession where baseball is popular in some sections and attractive as a curiosity in others.

The Pirates who have done the best work during the season are Hans Wagner, shortstop; Clarence Beament, the handsome center fielder; Captain Fred Clarke, Pitcher Phillips, Third Baseman Tommy Leach and Second Baseman Bransfield. Phillips has led the Pittsburgh twirlers, and the other members of the team take off their hats to him.

Chicago has taken a decided stand against betting on the ball field, which is in vogue in many of the cities in the east, especially Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York. As a result of this warring element the National league at its next meeting will take up this question, and some plan will be made to stop this evil altogether.

Charles Comiskey, the "Old Roman" in the game and owner of the White Sox, looks on the betting question as a most dangerous one, denouncing it in terms easily understood. "The American league, for one, does not stand for betting on the ball field," says Comiskey. "It never has, and we aim to keep that way. I believe this betting business will, if tolerated, force the national game into the mire and promote rowdiness and riots on the field. If the public increases the betting pace it will lead causes to mob umpires and players if decisions do not suit it."

"Betting on the Chicago American grounds is out of the question. I would not tolerate it for an instant."

President Hart of the Nationals has also taken a decided stand against betting on the ball field, and he does not hesitate to say that its effect is degrading.

Many wonder how two such successful and popular pitchers as Mathewson and McGinnity of the New York Nationals get along together on the same team without wrangling over their claims to popular favor.

The question has often been asked, "I wonder how those two men act toward each other?" They are the best of friends, and each thinks the other is the greatest pitcher he ever saw. "Matty" is younger than the "Iron Man" and looks to him for advice. Those who early in the season thought Mathewson had seen his best days have marveled at the work done by the young man in later games. The secret of his success is out. McGinnity has been coaching him, teaching him the body swing instead of the sharp arm jerk which strains ligaments and has early sent men like Amos Rusie and others to the shelf.

When Mathewson, fresh from college, jumped into professional ball he relied upon his terrific speed to down batsmen. This year, under the wise coaching of McGinnity, who has the saving of the pitching arm down to a science, he has learned to feed the batsmen a puzzling change of pace, which includes a slow drop ball.

The day when the batsman who swings hard at the ball lands well up among the top notchers in the batting average has long since passed. With the exception of Hans Wagner, the late Ed Deleahanty was perhaps the last of the hard swingers who figured as a batting star.

The up to date batsman does not take a long swing. He merely snaps at the ball with his bat and finds that mode of batting very successful. There was a time when all batsmen took a good long swing at the ball. When the pitchers mastered the change of pace which is now in vogue and is, incidentally, more successful than curves or speed, the long swing had to be abandoned.

The player who sets himself and keeps his bat far back of the plate in order to get a long swing at the ball has little or no chance to ever connect effectively with the change of pace delivery. That slow ball sent after a fast one has been pushed over is bound to fool the batsman. That slow ball may be easy enough to detect from the grand stand, but from the plate, looking directly at the ball, it cannot be detected from a fast one until it is too late and the batsman is off his stride.

A weak grounder or little pop fly usually results, if the ball is hit at all, and very often it is missed a mile. Let a batsman be caught on that ball a few times and he grows nervous and finds himself unable to hit either fast or slow balls with that long swing.

The batsman with the snappy motion can wait for the slow ball, and when he hits it it travels just as far as if he had taken a wide swing at it.

Ed Hanlon, Brooklyn's manager, says: "It is easy for me to see how I could have strengthened the team with the addition of a very little talent and have made Brooklyn the National pennant winner this year. But, of course, talent—that is, the seasoned talent—cannot be obtained. Owners of good ball teams are not going to break them up to help somebody else."

"We have lacked a seasoned pitcher all the year. By a seasoned pitcher I mean one who could be relied upon to win two-thirds of his games. Just one pitcher of that caliber means all the world to any baseball team. You do not know how well it braces the players up. They go into the game with great confidence and study the pitcher attentively to see what he is going to do, knowing that he can be depended upon to make the game comparatively easy for them."

"I thought Garvin would be a pitcher of that kind. Recently he has shown all his old winning ability, but he didn't seem to be able to pull himself together until the season was half over and while he was coming around into condition he lost many a game because he was wild and uncertain."

Terry McGovern, once feather weight champion pugilist, is a ball player of no mean ability, as evidenced in the games between his Brooklyn nine and that of Young Corbett, his vanquisher. Terry seems to have lost a deal of his liking for the ring and seems to think that he could make a success of work on the diamond in professional circles. The president of the Connecticut State league has offered McGovern a position on a team for next season, and Terry is thinking the matter over. More than likely he'll accept, and next year will find him a full fledged player.

Manager McGraw, New York Nationals, holds the record for tender years in playing professional baseball. He had not reached his sixteenth birthday when he started his professional record with the Olcott (N. Y.) team. He is thirty years old now. This is his fourteenth year as a professional.

"Sudhoff is not my highest salaried pitcher, but he is my best. I wish I had three more like him," says Owner Hedges of the St. Louis Browns.

Ex-Soldiers and Sailors' Reunion at Beloit a Success—Clinton Gets Next Meeting.

S. C. Cobb of this city was elected vice president of the Ex-Soldiers and Sailors' association, which held its eighth annual meeting at Beloit yesterday. W. J. McIntyre was made secretary, W. G. Palmer treasurer, and J. F. Carle, chaplain. W. A. Maynew of Clinton was elected to the office of president for the coming year.

The veterans decided at the business session in the morning that Clinton should be the town for the next reunion. On account of the rain, the attendance of the country members was considerably smaller than usual and because of the almost continual down-pour all of the exercises scheduled to take place in the park had to be held in the G. A. R. hall, where they were just as successful as they would have been in the park, however, and brought back memories of the past that are dear to every old soldier. The Rev. S. G. Huey of Rock Prairie, Capt. Phil Norecross and L. E. Cunningham were the principal speakers.

The total attendance at this reunion was in the neighborhood of seventy-five and there was a fair attendance from all the districts. Small sized delegations coming from Edgerton, Evansville and Milton.

SON SEES FATHER MURDER TWO

George Brandt Slays Divorced Wife and Her Mother.

Spring Green, Wis., Sept. 10.—George Brandt, living six miles south of here, killed his divorced wife and her mother, Mrs. Mary Murphy. His 12-year-old son witnessed the double murder. Afterwards Brandt tried to kill himself, but failed and is now in jail.

Both women were shot without warning. Mrs. Murphy was seated on the porch of her farm house, and her son-in-law crept up behind her and fired the fatal shot. He then went in search of his former wife and killed her in the barn.

His little son witnessed the death of both women, and after the murderer escaped the boy came to this village and related the story. The posse that went in pursuit found Brandt in a barn on a neighboring farm. He had slight flesh wounds in the forehead. He will live.

Brandt and his wife were divorced several years ago, and, as far as known, they had not met recently.

The governor had just completed a tour of the grounds and been escorted to the directors' room to partake of light refreshments when he suddenly became faint and wanted to lie down. He was carried to Emergency hospital and put to bed. He grew worse rapidly, but finally under treatment rallied and was dressed, but had to return to the cot. Half an hour later he was able to leave the hospital with support, and was taken to a hotel. He was reported resting easily and in no immediate danger.

The latest project is the construction of a great bridge, to cost $3,000,000, over Carquinez straits, at Port Costa. At present trains are carried across these straits, which connect San Francisco bay with Suis bay, by ferry. This method is slow and expensive.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

The doors through which the exports of the United States flow to the outside world are opening more widely year by year, and this seems to be especially true of the ports located on the Gulf of Mexico, the northern lake border, and the Pacific coast. Formerly the Atlantic coast ports held a very large proportion of the export as well as import trade, but in recent years the export trade is being distributed to the ports at the north and the south, as well as the west, though the importations the Atlantic ports still retain about 80 per cent of the total import trade. The figures of the fiscal year just ended, compared with those of the fiscal year 1901, presented by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, show a reduction for Boston of 55 millions in exports; New York a reduction of 24 millions; Philadelphia a reduction of 6 millions; Baltimore a reduction of 25 millions; Newport News a reduction of 7 millions, and Norfolk a reduction of nearly 2 millions. Moving down the coast to the south, however, and still comparing the figures of 1903 with those of 1901, Savannah shows an increase in exportation of about 8 millions; Wilmington N. C. over 2 millions; Galveston an increase of a million, and New Orleans a decrease of 3 millions. Combining all the Atlantic ports, the total exports of 1903, compared with those of 1901, show a falling off of 98 million dollars; the Gulf ports show practically the same figure in 1903 as in 1901; Mexican border ports show an increase of nearly 5 millions; Pacific ports an increase of 10 millions, and northern border and lake ports an increase of 18 millions in the exports of 1903 compared with those of 1901. Thus the Atlantic ports are the only group showing a reduction in 1903 compared with 1901.

In imports, however, the Atlantic ports still hold their commanding position. The total imports of 1903 amounted to 1,025 millions, and of this 821 millions, or 80 per cent, came in through the Atlantic ports. In 1893 the total importations were 866 millions; of this, 717 millions, or 82 per cent, came through Atlantic ports. Comparing the imports of 1903 with those of 1901, the Atlantic ports show an increase of 151 million dollars; the Gulf ports, 12 millions; Mexican border ports, 3 millions; Pacific ports, 8 millions, and northern border and lake ports, 25 millions.

THE NEW GAME LAWS.

The new game laws are creating a great deal of discussion and all sorts of constructions are interpreted. The law provides that only 25 decoys shall be used by each individual hunter. The men who have been accustomed to shoot for the market claim that half a dozen of them can combine and put out 150. This may not interfere with the letter of the law, but it is certainly in opposition to the spirit of the measure and is liable to lead to litigation. The law is intended to protect the game from slaughter at the hands of pot hunters and market shooters, as well as to insure to the sportsmen, who go out for recreation and pleasure, an opportunity for shore and rush shooting. This class of men do not need watchmen, as they respect the law and have neither the disposition nor incentive to violate it.

The best protection to game is the clause of the law that prohibits its sale. If this is enforced there will be no inducement to break it either in letter or spirit.

A man appeared on the streets of Chicago, Labor day, driving his own team and with his wagon loaded with children who were out for a holiday. Because he did not wear a union badge he was seized by a mob, and his harness cut to pieces. On South Water street a few days ago, another man was murdered in cold blood for driving his own team without a badge. This is civilization at the opening of the new century. Chicago needs a few cowboy teamsters turned loose with six shooters to establish the rights of American citizens.

It is a disgrace to the American people that the life of the president is in so much danger that a body guard is necessary every time he crosses his door sill. Two attempts have been made on his life during the past few days, and the utmost vigilance is constantly demanded. These conditions are a menace to the nation, and are only paralleled in Turkey. The land is infested with cranks and Anarchists, who are encouraged by impractical theories as they are harmful.

How about the mortgage assessment plan. If the governor wants to enlighten the people why don't he devote a little time to the discussion of mortgages as property. There was a time when this class of securities contributed something to the state expense account. The trouble with the governor is, that his sense of vision is obstructed by a freight car.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' association recently organized in Milwaukee, is a move in the right direction, and should be encouraged by the business men throughout the state. Its object is for mutual benefit. It is non partisan and non political in character, and seeks to improve business conditions in the state. Janesville was well represented at the meeting.

The Milwaukee Free Press uses the argument that there are enough "fair-minded democrats" in Wisconsin to elect Governor LaFollette, should he lose the entire conservative republican vote of the state. These are the men who nominated him two years ago. They can doubtless be depended upon.

The Chicago Federation of Labor had a stormy session last Sunday, when five prominent leaders were accused of dishonesty and their expulsion from the order demanded. It is fortunate for organized labor that it recognizes at last a class of abuses that have long been apparent to disinterested observers.

Burial insurance is becoming very popular in Boston, and a number of companies are doing a thriving business. The policies guarantee $100 for a funeral and the premium is $1.00, with a $2.00 annual dues. The companies are making money, and their patrons are well satisfied.

Iowa republicans are getting into line and while the "stand pat" and administration men are not on the best of terms, there will be no split in the party. Iowa has too long been a republican state to go back on its record and Roosevelt will carry it with an old time majority.

The German government is attempting to promote the cause of temperance by legislation that seeks to prohibit the sale of all intoxicants in saloons. The trade is to be confined to soft drinks. A German saloon without beer would be a novelty in any country.

The south is taking on prohibition at a rapid rate, but crime in that section of the country is on the increase. The argument, that this key is at the bottom of crime, and largely responsible for it, does not seem to hold good in this case.

Carroll D. Wright, acting as umpire in the anthracite coal fields, decides that an employer has a right to discharge an employee for any reason that he may deem necessary. A sensible ruling.

The governor did not interfere with the State fair, but the weather did. The management have occasion to be thankful that they escaped a two-fold misfortune.

The postmasters in session in Milwaukee, had but little trouble in deciding that they were possessed of the least authority of any class of men on earth.

PRESS COMMENT

Chicago Inter Ocean: Professor Langley's airship is a good deal like Sir Thomas' yacht. It is beautifully constructed.

Chicago Record Herald: Mary MacLane's new book is reported to be thoroughly decent. Out goes Mary's light.

Washington Post: Mr. Edison declares that his stomach has been injured by radium. Any person who will eat stuff worth $3,000,000 a pound ought to pay the penalty.

St. Louis Globe Democrat: Hotel thieves are making their appearance in St. Louis. Is the world's fair visitor to be expected to endure this sort of theft in addition to the original larceny?

St. Louis Globe Democrat: Canada has sent out another expedition to fix a boundary line. Looks like another gold field has been discovered on the wrong side of the old boundary line.

Chicago News: Two Montana men have been sentenced to a year each in the penitentiary for killing a steer. In Montana they do not pass over crimes of this nature without a deep and solemn sense of their gravity.

New York Tribune: The shah of Persia has become weary of paying the millinery bills of 1,700 wives—so the Daily Bul-Bul of Teheran announces. In its court bulletin—and has sent 1,610 of them into a cold and cruel world. As he retains three score of his best beloved consorts, his domestic hearth may not be altogether desolate.

DANE CO. HAS TOO MUCH WET WEATHER

Acres and Acres of Potatoes Are Rotting in Our Adjoining County.

Acres and acres of large ripe potatoes are rotting in Dane county fields, says the Madison Democrat. It has been impossible to harvest the crop, owing to the continuous heavy rains. Even where the potatoes have been dug the rot has attacked them and people who early laid in their supplies of this food are discovering a large proportion of the pile already spoiled. Fortunately not many people have laid in their winter potatoes.

The result of this situation will be: Potatoes at a $1 a bushel. This is the possibility—practically the certainly—facing housekeepers the coming fall and winter. It is due to the long season of rain that has been experienced throughout Wisconsin the past four weeks. The finishing touch to the potato crop has been given by the rainfall last week, during which the ground has been soaked by a precipitation of over two and a half inches.

The rain has rotted the growing tubers to such an extent that buyers who travel through the potato belt declare the yield this fall in Wisconsin will not exceed half a crop, although the acreage has been materially increased over last year.

In 1892 Wisconsin produced 21,641,498 bushels of potatoes from 256,931 acres. This year, it is estimated, the acreage amounts to over 270,000 acres, while the output will be decreased fully 40 per cent. The effect of these conditions is already felt in the market. Last week prices ruled about 50 cents a bushel, while this week the prices will advance to 70 cents, this being the retail figure. Another advance is expected with the next week. Yesterday Chicago commission men were offering 60 cents for carload lots in Wisconsin.

The damage to potatoes falls heaviest in three counties—Portage, Waupaca, and Waushara—which raises more than one-fifth of all the potatoes grown in Wisconsin. Last year these counties grew and sold the following number of bushels: Portage, 1,978,344 from 29,099 acres; Waupaca, 1,572,554 from 17,498 acres; and Waushara, 1,905,737 from 23,685 acres.

WHITEHEAD TO MAKE A REPLY

WILL SPEAK IN BELOIT ON WEDNESDAY NEXT.

ASKS UNIONS TO ATTEND

Has Also Invited Assemblyman Brittan To Preside at the Meeting.

Senator Whitehead has thrown another bomb into the camp of the La Follette faction. After the fiasco of the Evansville fair managers in refusing to allow him to answer the governor at their fair and the part the executive staff of the governor had in their doing so the senator looked for another opportunity to meet the governor in debate or at least answer some of his misstatements as to the last legislature. His opportunity came at the Beloit Labor day speech. Many of those who heard the governor that day will remember the statement he made near the close when he said he would return at a later date and tell the true status of certain representatives of the people. This was meant for Senator Whitehead without a doubt.

Sends invitation Wednesday afternoon Senator Whitehead engaged the Wilson opera house for next Wednesday evening for a mass meeting. He then sent a letter to F. A. Thornton, president of the Federated Trades council of Beloit asking that the trades councils under whose auspices the Labor day meeting was held be present at his address in which he intends to answer the arguments presented by the governor. He also sent a letter to Assemblyman Brittan, asking him to preside at the meeting. These letters were delivered to the persons addressed by a special messenger late yesterday afternoon.

The Letter
The trades' council has not yet replied to the invitation and will consider it at a special meeting tonight. The letter was in part as follows: "As a citizen of Rock county, I was deeply interested in your Labor day celebration at Beloit last Monday. The fine appearance of the men and the high grade of intelligence everywhere manifested in the great crowd at the picnic impressed me most favorably and awakened in me a new and higher appreciation of the civic opportunities enjoyed under our government. The addresses at the grove to which we listened were eloquent, notably so that of the governor of our state. He said many things that the people ought often to hear, and pardon my frankness—not a few things that he ought not to have said. "He repeated once more the attacks upon two legislatures held during his administration which he of late has frequently made both at home and abroad. His statements are a bold challenge of the record, and while I do not care to enter into competition with the governor as an orator I shall undertake, as senator from Rock county in these two legislatures, acquainted with the facts, to inform my constituents more fully with respect to recent Wisconsin legislative action than the governor has done in his address in Beloit before your organization. "The governor placed no restraint upon his utterances, which were respectfully listened to by his Beloit auditors, and I doubt not that you and your associates will now accord to me the liberty of very plain speech in reply. I might add that I have asked our mutual friend, your colleague at Beloit, my colleague at Madison, James A. Brittan, to preside at the meeting. I shall take pleasure in providing seats for you and your brother or sisters and for such other prominent men as you may name upon the platform."

"JACK THE SNIPPER" HAS NOW APPEARED

New Fad in the "Jack" Lines is Credited to a Janesville Man.

Chicago has had a "Jack the Hair Clipper;" London its "Jack the Ripper;" Rockford and Detroit its "Jack the Mullator;" Racine its "Jack the Peeper;" and other cities their "Jack the Huger;" Boston its "Jack the Spanker;" but it remained for Janesville to develop a new Jack in the shape of "Jack the Button Snipper." That is, if the communication published in the morning paper can be believed to be more than a joke. The communication on this subject follows. It was headed "Warning" and it true Janesville should have credit for developing so new a freak as "Jack the Button Snipper."

Janesville counts among her citizens a business man who is besides a magician of rare attainments. Unlike most men of rare attainments, he has, until recently, hid his talents under his hat. Lately, however, he has changed his tactics. He practices his art in and out of season. He juggles with coin, cards, and dice. Unlike his contemporaries to-wit, Hermann and others, he conjures not with the rabbit's foot, but with buttons, buttons of rare sizes, shape and color. He has acquired an uncontrollable mania for buttons and he gathers his buttons as he goes here and there, clipping one, now here, now there from your pantaloons, coat or any old garment as he proceeds in the gratings of his ledger-to-main. Beware of him.

VICTIM.

TOBACCO NEWS FOR THE GROWER

TOO MUCH RAIN HAS HURT THE CROP.

GENERAL DAMAGE IS DONE

Reports from the East Are Not Very Encouraging for the Present Output.

The feature of the cigar leaf circle in Wisconsin for the first week in September was the extensive purchase made by S. L. Johns of Pennsylvania. The recent deal embraces 2700 cases grown and packed in Crawford and Vernon counties and 3000 cases packed in Rock and Dane counties. Mr. Johns has faith in choice Wisconsin tobaccos, and is to be congratulated on the large amount of good Wisconsin tobacco in his possession. His recent purchases, added to his regular packing, carefully selected by his Wisconsin representatives, Fisher & Fisher, enables him to offer the trade a large block of the best wrappers and binders grown in the state.

New England Tobacco
In New England the cool weather accompanied by wind and rain storms, with which last week closed and this week opened, did not benefit the growing crop any. On the contrary, such weather conditions are exactly what is not wanted at this time of the year. Warm, sunny days and warmer nights are necessary to develop and mature the late crop, and facilitate the harvesting of the early. Such conditions now would greatly help the growers. An early frost means that the best part of the 1903 crop will be cut off. The work of harvesting is general and every one is busy. The loss this year from grasshoppers, worms, and other insect pests have been small, and it is now too late for them to do any special damage. In the broad leaf sections speculators are buying the growing crop in the field. The cured leaf market is showing more activity than since the set in of summer weather.

Crop Behind in New York
Too much rain and too little warm sunny weather in New York, as elsewhere, had a depressing effect upon the crop, which is looking poorly. The plants which started out well are slender and spindling with narrow leaves. Good crops are the exception, and not the rule. A careful estimate indicates that the crop will be much behind that of last year in quantity and quality. The work of harvesting has been commenced and in a week will be general.

The Ohio Crop
In Ohio the condition of the crop is very satisfactory. A long spell of warm weather has brought it out wonderfully, and it is coming to the curing stage in good condition. The work of harvesting is in full blast. The cured leaf market is active, quite a number of sales at good prices being reported.

Damage from Hailstorms
Reports from correspondents tell of a great deal of damage done the growing crop by storms of wind, hail, and rain, which have occurred this week in various and widely divergent territories. At Madison, Ind., the growing tobacco was beaten and cut to pieces by the hail stones. In Amherst, Nelson, Appomattox and Charlotte counties, Virginia, millions of plants were destroyed and the loss amounts to thousands of dollars, and in the vicinity of Warsaw, Ky., the damage amounts to $30,000.—Journal.

MAYO GIVEN A THRASHING

Beloit Man Who Stood Up Before Jack Root at the Myers Grand, Fares Badly.

"Billy" Mayo of Beloit, the athletic trainer who stood up through three rounds with Jack Root at the Myers Grand last Monday evening, came to grief in an impromptu engagement with a non-professional named Thomas Maloney Tuesday night, according to the Beloit News. The combat grew out of a former friendly bout in which Maloney also came out best man, and Mayo's alleged claim that he was not in condition at the time. After Maloney had punished Mayo severely he thought he heard some one cry "Police" and took to his heels, Mayo following. He stooped down enough to throw his pursuer down again and then continued his way.

Stoughton was the scene of a delightful gathering last evening when nearly two hundred Odd Fellows from various parts of the Badger state met in that city. A good sized delegation from Janesville left for the festive scene in spite of the pouring rain and there is not a man of them who has not a good word to say for the unlimited hospitality that was shown by their hosts.

Local Men Lead.
Rock River Encampment took up their unsurpassed paraphernalia and made a fine showing. They had charge of the floor work and the ceremonies were impressive as well as elaborate. The installation of the new encampment at Stoughton was the removal of the charter from Edgerton.

D. Holmes, of Baraboo, and several past officers; J. L. Fulton, of Whitewater, R. G. Smith, of Whitewater, J. F. Hutchinson of this city.

A Continuous Downpour.
The meeting was held in Social hall at Stoughton and the only disagreeable part to the gathering was the rain, which came down in plentiful quantities all the evening. The opinion of all who attended was that the entertainment was the best that could be given.

TO PUSH POSTAL FRAUD CHARGE

ANOTHER BILL FOR BEAVERS

Former Chief of the Division of Salaries and Allowances is Indicted Jointly With Machen on Charge of Conspiracy to Defraud.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore has taken hold of the postal fraud case in earnest, and the seventeen additional indictments against persons implicated are in his hands. He will be the chief aid to the government officers in charge of the prosecution.

Mr. Bonaparte has received the formal drafts of indictments against Geo. W. Beavers, August W. Machen, Congressman Edmund H. Driggs, Maurice Runkle, George E. Lorenz, George F. Miller and Thomas W. McGregor. He declared that the cases in which indictments are returned by the grand jury will be pushed as rapidly as the evidence at hand will permit.

Beavers Again Indicted.

One of the persons indicted by the federal grand jury in connection with the postal investigation is George W. Beavers, formerly chief of the division of salary and allowances. It is understood that the charge is conspiracy.

Another of the indictments is against August W. Machen on a new set of facts, involving his conspiracy with Beavers. The charge is conspiracy.

While the officials refuse to disclose the names of the four remaining persons who were indicted, it is said that none of them is or has been connected with the Postoffice department and that one is a man of some prominence.

Outsider Is Involved.

It was stated at the city hall that the climax of the investigation is to come shortly when a person not connected with the department, but equally well known as the postmaster general himself, undoubtedly will be indicted for complicity in the post-office frauds.

The grand jury began hearing the evidence in this particular case, and it is stated that when a report is made it will in all probability conclude the investigation in Washington.

By direction of President Roosevelt, a thorough investigation has been made into the charges preferred by Mr. Seymour W. Tulloch against the management of affairs of the Washington (D. C.) Postoffice. This investigation has been made by the Hon. Charles J. Bonaparte and the Hon. Holmes Conrad, special counsel of the government in the prosecution of the postoffice fraud cases.

President Approves.

"It is not a party affair with the president," Mr. Conrad declared, "but an honest desire to get at the facts in the case, both Democrats and Republicans being involved in the charges. The president is anxious to have the matter thoroughly sifted and any criticism, credit or blame arising from the inquiry will be borne by him."

Mr. Conrad expressed the opinion that both he and Mr. Bonaparte would agree as to the recommendations to be made to the attorney general.

A LOVE THAT NEVER DIED

[Original.]

When General Zachary Taylor's troops were in Mexico confronting those of Santa Anna an incident of secret service took place which was not only thrilling, but which contained a romance.

One evening two officers, one in the uniform of a Mexican colonel, the other that of a captain, rode into the advance Mexican camps and asked to be conducted to the tent of the commanding officer. Arriving there, they found Major Fortado, to whom they presented an order purporting to be signed by General Santa Anna directing that they be afforded every facility to inspect the camps. This was given them. They rode over the ground, noted the approaches, and as they were about to depart they were arrested and taken to Major Fortado, the commandant. On them were found sketches and memoranda that proved them to be spies. They confessed and were informed that they would be shot at daylight the next morning.

The men were Lieutenant Colonel Otis Winchester and Lieutenant Warren Holmes of the American army. Colonel Winchester, knowing that certain information was extremely necessary to his general, had volunteered to make a bold attempt to secure it. Lieutenant Holmes was sent with him, it being hoped that if Winchester was taken Holmes might get through and back with the information. The uniforms had been obtained from Mexican officers, prisoners of war. Santa Anna's signature had been forged from a dispatch which had been captured on the messenger who bore it.

Neither slept during the night and shortly before dawn wrote brief letters to their homes, which they were told would be forwarded under flag of truce to General Taylor. Winchester, much the older man, was composed, but Holmes suffered from all the depression to be expected in one about to be shot.

"Are you related," asked Winchester, "to Edward C. Holmes of the class of 182—, at West Point?"

"He was my father," replied Holmes. Winchester said nothing, but looked at the young man with a melancholy stare. At the moment a messenger from Major Fortado entered.

"The commandant," he said, "is especially reluctant to take the lives of two such brave men. He deems one sufficient to satisfy the military law common in such cases and directs me to inform you that you are permitted to draw lots, the one losing to be executed at once, the other to be exchanged."

Winchester again turned his glance on young Holmes, and a sigh—it might have been of relief—escaped him. The two officers exchanged letters to their respective families, to be taken north by the one escaping death. Then they were conducted to Fortado's headquarters.

The commandant placed two stones in his hat, the one black, the other white. Colonel Winchester claimed by right of seniority to draw, the first stone drawn being decisive. He stepped up to Fortado, who sat at a table holding the hat, put in his hand and withdrawing it tossed a black stone on the table.

"You have lost," said the major, laying down the hat. Then, turning to the guard, he directed that the prisoners be taken away. A few minutes later a volley was heard without, and Otis Winchester had been executed.

Major Fortado took up his hat and before placing it on his head put in his hand to withdraw the remaining stone. It was not there.

"Has any one touched the hat," he asked, surprised, "since I laid it on the table?"

Every one present disclaimed having done so.

"Gentlemen," said the major, "we have shot a noble man. He took both chances, sparing his companion."

A month later Lieutenant Holmes was exchanged. Before taking his departure for the American lines he was conducted to Major Fortado's headquarters.

"What bond was there between you and your comrade?" asked Fortado.

"None that I know of. General Taylor called for volunteers to attend an officer on a hazardous enterprise. I volunteered and was accepted."

"Lieutenant, I will tell you a secret. When Colonel Winchester withdrew his hand from the hat that decided your fate and his he took both stones."

The information weighed heavily upon Holmes. He remembered Winchester's mention of his father, who had died some years before, and as soon as he returned to his home went straight to his mother to ask her to enlighten him.

"Mother," he asked, "who was Otis Winchester?"

"Why do you ask, my boy?" replied the lady, starting.

The young man gave his mother the information he had received from the Mexican. It was some time before she could find her voice to speak. Then she said:

"Otis Winchester was your father's rival. They were classmates at the West Point. I decided for your father."

The last five words were spoken almost in a whisper, after which there was a silence between the two, a silence which it would have been profane to interrupt and the impressiveness of which no word could deplete. Then the son went to his mother and put his arms about her.

"I supposed," he said, "that this the greatest of all sacrifices was for me, and I could not understand how it could be so. I see now that it was for you."
